

To activate LabView you have to go into the licence manager and force it to activate the student mode - it does not do this by default with the number alone. If you press activate and use the code all that happens is it goes into short-time demo mode.