BA OR BEng?

The type of degree you take should depend on what you want to do in life. The B before the course name means the course is a Bachelor's degree. But the letters after it refer to the type of course it is. So, a BA is an arts-based degree, a BSc is a science or technology-based degree and a BEng is an engineering-based degree. In some subjects there's a choice. Make sure you're signing up for the right one. For Law students, an LLB is also a Bachelor's qualification. But as opposed to, say, a BA, an LLB is a qualifying degree which enables you to go on to practice Law.
