From entering competitions to becoming creative entrepreneurs, our students are given plenty of opportunities to shine. We believe in excellence, empowerment and achievement.

Animator or sound designer.
Actor or film director. Novelist or documentary maker.

Turn possibility into reality through our creative courses, opening up an array of career opportunities. We've designed them to mirror the interdisciplinary practices you'll find in industry.

It means you won't study your specialism in isolation, but will have the confidence to work across different areas, such as digital media, film and live performance. Collaborative projects range from writers crafting lyrics for music artists through to joint work between theatre-makers and film-makers.

Our boundary-pushing courses share some other common themes too. Storytelling sits at the heart of the creative process. You'll learn how to tell other people's stories and craft your own, draw on oral storytelling techniques and weave narratives into your work.

And you'll explore how to make sense of the world around us. Through your projects, you could be exploring issues such as social justice, the climate emergency or how to drive positive change.

Analytical, imaginative and creative. Skills that will help you feel fully prepared when you reach the workplace.

A hub of creativity and collaboration for Media, Performance and Communication students.
